Serving will begin at 3 o'clock in the Veterans Memorial Building at Community Park. However, the food will not be cooked on that ancient heater shown here. That is just for 1890 atmosphere, in keeping with Frankfort's theme and the state's sesquicentennial. Urge Motorists To Make Labor Day Safe Holiday Police at all levels — village, county and state — join with various safety bodies in urging motorists to use care and common sense during the Labor Day weekend so that it will be a safe and pleasant holiday.

The Labor Day weekend traffic is always quite heavy. Thousands of persons will be on the road, heading for lakes or streams for a final outing. There will be thousands more heading for picnics or family gatherings, fairs or festivals. And added to all these will be the thousands of vacationists homeward bound.

The Chicago Motor Club, thru written and spoken words, has been campaigning to make motorists more aware of the common sense rules of driving and thereby place a more conscientious and careful driver behind the wheel.

A study of highway fatalities, it was said, shows that many of them are single-car accidents, happen most frequently near the person's home, usually occur on a two-lane road and most often are at night.

Twenty-four persons were killed in Illinois in 20 separate accidents over the Fourth of July in the period extending from 6 p.m. July 3 to 12 midnight July 7. This compares with a death toll of 41 in 1967. For the same period in Indiana this year 20 persons were killed in 13 accidents, as compared to 31 deaths in a similar 102-hour period last year.

An analysis by the Chicago Motor Club of the Fourth of July toll in Illinois reveals that in the 20 accidents, 12 involved single vehicles striking fixed objects or running off the road. These accidents accounted for 15 of the 24 deaths. Three of the accidents were two-car collisions that claimed three lives.

In the other accidents, passenger cars collided with a truck, a train, a motorcycle and three pedestrians.

Thirteen of the accidents took place at night and seven in the daylight hours.

Ten of the fatal accidents happened on two-lane rural roads; five on city streets, and five on expressways.

Age of the Illinois victims revealed that 16 of those killed were under 30 years old, five were over 55, and three between 30 and 35.

Only one of the fatal accidents was directly attributable to mechanical failure, driver error accounted for the other fatalities, with Illinois State Police recording "speed too fast for conditions" as the major cause of the accidents.

In none of the accidents was there any indication that seat belts were worn at the time of the crash, tho nearly all of the vehicles were equipped with them.

A major percentage of the fatal holiday accidents took place at a late hour. Most of them were single car accidents. Police reports do not indicate a specific cause for these accidents but the Motor Club lists probable causes as driver fatigue or actual dozing at the wheel; alcohol and overdriving the headlights, that is, driving at a speed so fast that the driver cannot react to what he sees when it finally appears within range of his lights.

Take it easy; obey speed limit signs. Have your car under control. If you become tired get off the road and rest awhile. That highway hypnosis can get you, it has been pointed out many times. Be alert, be courteous, be careful and stay alive.

Drive and walk as tho safety is your personal responsibility.

6 Injured In 2-Car Crash On Wolf Rd.

A Mokena girl, and a New Lenox man were among the six persons injured early last Saturday morning in a two-car collision at the junction of Wolf Rd. and U.S. 6, north of Mokena.

Five of the injured are confined to Silver Cross Hospital at Joliet. One was treated and released.

The Mokena girl, Patricia Carroll, 11408 195th St., was a passenger in a car traveling south on Wolf Rd., driven by Donald Ecklund, 18, of 16852 Willow Lane, Tinley Park.

The other car, a convertible, driven by Ronald Campbell, 20, of 816 Ogden Rd., New Lenox.

State troopers from the Blue Island state police district investigated the accident. The Mokena fire department received a call about 1:30 a.m. that there had been a crash and that an automobile was on fire. There was no fire when firemen arrived.

The car driven by Campbell is reported to have made a left turn to enter Wolf Rd. and the two vehicles met.

Campbell is reported to have suffered a compound fracture of a leg and was still seated in the convertible when firemen arrived. Some of the passengers in his car are said to have been thrown out by the impact.

All were taken to Silver Cross. Passengers in the Campbell car hospitalized, were Timothy David, 19, 2313 Lockport Rd., Lockport, and Lawrence Today, 28, Hotel Plaza, Joliet. Another passenger, Albert Mathis, 19, of 1321 Collins St., Joliet, was treated and released. Ecklund and Miss Carroll remained in the hospital.

Frankfort Tax Levy is $73,200

The Frankfort village board recently adopted its annual tax levy ordinance for the coming fiscal year.

Last year the tax levy totaled approximately $61,000; the new levy is $73,200.

The 1967-68 appropriation ordinance provided for expenditures of up to $204,000, as compared to $226,000 for 1968-69.

If the village has the money it plans to maintain Community Park until next year when the recently organized park district will get in its first tax money. One of the things the village would like to do is to make a start on the building of a parking area that would be adjacent to the one put in by Bobzin-Swinford Post, American Legion at the west side of the Veterans Memorial Building.

but all were rejected as too high.

The board is re-advertising for bids. They are to be opened by the engineer and representatives of the village board the morning of Sept. 4, and the figures submitted to the board at its regular meeting that night.

Low bid submitted last week was $30,394.50, by Nick & John, Channahon Rd., Joliet. This was 14 per cent over the estimate of Village Engineer Robert Hamilton. His estimate was $26,661. Foschi Bros., Inc., 808 S. Joliet St., Joliet, submitted a bid of $39,602.80. The other bid, submitted by Loitz Bros., Grant Park, was $39,684.50.

On a motion by Trustee

DEADLINES

Early deadlines will be observed for the next issue. Office will be closed all day Monday, Sept. 2, in observance of Labor Day.

All news articles must be submitted no later than Saturday noon, Aug. 31. No articles will be accepted Tuesday morning.

Earl Schroeder, seconded by Trustee Robert Wysock, the bids were rejected and new ones called for by the board.

The area to be served by this sewer program is slated to be annexed to the village. A letter has been sent to each of the residents who signed the pre-annexation agreement, setting forth the necessary steps to be taken. They must sign the petition that accompanied the letter, have it notarized and returned to the village hall.

Arrangements have been made with the New Lenox State Bank, it was reported, for the various property owners involved to deposit their share of the cost in an escrow account. This should be done by Sept. 7, it was said.

The zoning ordinance of the village is to be amended to provide for eight unit apartments under R-3 classification. It has been limited for four. The action was taken by the village board on a motion by Trustee Jack Batson and seconded by Wysock following receipt of a recommendation by the planning commission to allow a maximum of eight units under one roof in multiple buildings. Each unit must have a minimum of two parking spaces and the minimum area for each unit is set at 2,000 square feet. New fees will be set up under the amended ordinance.

F.R. Hoaglin, Formerly Of Orland, Dies

Fred S. Hoaglin, 67, former owner of Schrage's Restaurant at 159th and Wolf Rd., and one time resident of Orland Park, died at Winter Haven, Fla. on Monday, Aug. 19.

Mr. Hoaglin sold out the restaurant in 1954 and moved to Florida to make his home. The owners that followed him in the restaurant business were unsuccessful. The building was finally destroyed by fire and the corner is now empty.

Mr. Hoaglin's body was brought to the Schmaedeke funeral home at Orland Park last Thursday and services were conducted there last Friday evening, Aug. 23, with the Rev. Wayne Koetz, pastor of the Lutheran Church at Worth, officiating. Cremation followed.

Surviving Mr. Hoaglin are his wife, Edna, and a sister, Mrs. Helen Ross.

This too was a recommendation of the planning commission.

Trustee Schroeder, police commissioner, presented specifications desired on a new police car. Bids will be taken in November.

The board also discussed financing of enlargement of the sewage treatment plant and extension of sanitary sewer lines and the proposed central water system. Mayor Joseph Hartung told the board that the New Lenox State Bank is prepared to handle the sewer program by the purchase of approximately $145,000 of second lien revenue bonds.

Paul Pihlstrand, of Columbian Securities, Inc., the firm that is to handle the water system bond issue, urged that the board consider refinancing the program and combining it with the water project. He left a report with each member of the board for study. He estimated it would cost an additional $59,000 to get the old bonds back and issuing new.

The trustees are expected to discuss the subject at their next meeting. In the meantime Village Attorney Wayne Johnson is preparing forms for prospective water users to sign. Philstrand said it was important to have signed contracts for the water so the number of users can be established.

A request for annexation to the village of property adjacent to and west of the Lincoln-Way Savings and Loan holdings was made of the board, with reclassification of the zoning from farm to business use. The matter was referred to the planning commission for a recommendation.

Frankfort Festival 'Lifts Off' Saturday

The last committee meeting has been held, all plans are finalized and everything is reported in readiness for the Frankfort festival, Saturday and Sunday.

The festival has a bit of several things going for it-it will have a touch of the Illinois Sesquicentennial celebration now in progress, a breath of Frankfurt-am-Main, and of course, a turn of time to the 1890 era, plus an outdoor art fair, dances, games and races, a parade and a band concert in the park.

For several years now the Frankfort Lions have staged a big weiner and sauerkraut dinner just before Labor Day. This year the Frankfort Chamber of Commerce decided that with this being Illinois's 150th year of statehood that Frankfort should celebrate too and so the festival was born.

The Lions will still hold their weiner and sauerkraut day on Saturday, and are breaking out the wash tubs that are used only for this event, to cook the kraut,

Orland Rushes To Aid Of 2 Injured Firemen

The Orland Park fire department is a volunteer organization.

Members receive no pay from the village, nor from any other source. At the height of the heavy rainstorm the night of Aug. 16, an Orland fire rig was on its way in response to an alarm when it overturned.

Four firemen were injured and two of them hospitalized, Roy Marquardt and Kenneth Howell, the latter for a week, Marquardt for three days.

There was insurance to take care of their hospital bills but that didn't cover their loss of pay at their places of regular employment.

Fire Chief Art Granat authorized the placement of some containers in various public places to receive any contribution the public might care to make. Within a week $1,100 was collected.

Meantime the village board acted. The village paid Marquardt and Howell the pay they could have earned, for which all of the members of the department, including the two injured men, voiced their the bratwurst, the weiners and potatoes. The serving will be from 4:30 to 9 p.m. The Park Committee, as usual, will sell the desserts.

For details here is the program for the two days:

Saturday, Aug. 30

Chamber of Commerce dance in Memorial Building, starting at 9 o'clock. A prize will be awarded the couple appearing in costume that best represents appreciation of the board's action.

The firemen also are grateful to the people for their generous donation. A small portion was used for additional compensation for the men and the remainder is to be placed in a fund that will be used to assist firemen should any of them be injured while on duty, Chief Granat said and added that the department is deeply grateful to the public.

The other two firemen who went over with the truck were Dale Taylor and Richard Magdziarz. They escaped serious injury and declined any compensation as they were able to work at their regular jobs.

The fire department also received $137 this week, for the Ambulance Fund. It came from friends and neighbors of Mrs. Bozena Kovarik, 157th and 115th Ct., as a memorial for her in lieu of flowers. Mrs. Kovarik, who was 93 years old, was stricken with an heart attack Aug. 18, and was taken to the hospital by Orland firemen. Later she died.

Atom May Aid Food Shortage

Copyright 1968 World Book Science Service

No housewife in her wildest imaginings ever dreamed that one day she might select a juicy steak, fresh fish, or fresh strawberries that had been stored on her pantry shelf at room temperature for two years or more.

Yet irradiation makes it possible. Three such irradiated foods -- bacon, wheat products and white potatoes -- have already been approved by the Food and Drug Administration for U.S. Army use.

Several more are about to be approved and may soon become commercially available.

Irradiating radiation of food for long-time preservation is one of the many peaceful uses to which atomic energy can be put. As world population burgeons toward the 6 1/2 billion mark by the Year 2000, food production must increase at a fantastic pace.

Radiation processing offers the best promise for extending food supplies by cutting losses from spoilage.

Seventy-six countries have already begun irradiation programs to combat their overwhelming food storages.

Commercialization of the irradiated foods will have a tremendous impact not only on industry but on eating and housekeeping customs around the world.

The first question is, "Is it safe?" Meaning, of course, "Is the food free of radioactivity?"

Dr. Kevin Shea, director of the irradiation program for the Atomic Energy Commission says, "Rays do not accumulate in the treated foods under approved conditions."

As a safeguard, the F.D.A. must approve each new type of irradiated food in this country.

Irradiation will eventually contribute not only to adequate food supplies, but will radically reduce food-borne diseases such as salmonella, trichinosis and bacterial dysenteries.

"My guess is," says Harry Ketchum, director of the project for the Department of Commerce, "that we will be purchasing irradiated foods at the supermarket before we put a man on the moon."

PROGRESS AGAINST CANCER -- The recent "Frontiers of Medicine Series" at the University of Chicago revealed new hope for those with inoperable cancer. A 50 per cent favorable response was reported to new drugs, new pain-relievers, psychiatric management, radiation, endocrine treatment and neurological surgery.

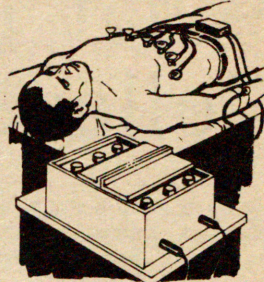

FALLOUT ANTIDOTE -- In the search for ways to counteract food poisoning from radioactive fallout, Dr. A. Hodgkinson of Leeds, England, has found that oral doses of calcium chloride with sodium alginate stop the intestinal absorption of radiostrontium.

HEART DETECTIVE

The electrocardiograph, an instrument used to diagnose disorders of the heart, was developed from the string galvanometer invented in 1903. The first electrocardiograph, brought to America early in the 1920's, weighed more than a quarter of a ton. Modern machines weigh 30 pounds or less.

Telephone of Future

Copyright 1968 World Book Science Service

Young people of the future won't believe you when you tell them about how things were back in the 1960s!

They'll laugh when you explain "old-fashioned" telephones, for example.

A lot of people remember when you had to put a nickel in the telephone and wait for the operator to say, "Number, please."

Nowadays, many people take direct dialing and push-button phones for granted. But it won't be long before these "modern inventions" are obsolete too.

In the not-too-distant future you will be able to call a friend on the other side of the world and show him your new clothes.

It will be just as easy to reach that friend as it is now to phone a friend down the block.

And both your phone and his will be equipped with TV-like screens so that you can see each other and show each other things while you're talking.

Picturephones, as they're called, have already been tested and are expected to be generally available in the next decade. And won't they change our lives!

Housewives will be able to see the lamb chops before they order them from the butcher. Businessmen will be able to have "face-to-face" contact and show their new products to customers without leaving their offices.

Students who can't go to school will be able to participate in class work or field trips from their homes.

People who can't hear or speak can use a Picturephone to communicate by lipreading or sign language.

Other very sophisticated telephone systems are already under development.

World-wide satellite systems will be used to help callers around the world get speedy and relatively inexpensive service.

Connect the dots and you will see what one of the "early" Picturephones looks like.

EYE ON SCIENCE

By JOE COSTA

Copyright 1968 World Book Science Service

Some of the animals on a farm near Columbia, Mo., have been acting strangely of late.

Ponies come to the barn gate every day at the same time, but not for food. Dogs start whining at certain times, but they aren't hungry or thirsty.

These animals are "hooked" on drugs. Their actions indicate they know it is time for their next pill or injection of barbiturate.

The farm, the only one of its kind in the world, is part of a research project to study drug metabolism and the effects of drugs on different species of animals. Animals used include ponies, swine, goats, dogs, cats, rats and mice.

The long-range goal of this research, according to Dr. Lloyd E. Davis, project director, is to find animals whose metabolic pathways are similar to man's.

Then it will be possible to test new drugs on these animals and determine their effect if used on man. In the photo, technicians are drawing blood from a drugged pony for analysis.

What To Do Until The College Gets There

Imagine a cow barn becoming a college cafeteria or a horse barn becoming an attractive library! That is just what has happened at Rock Valley College in Rockford, according to Elmer W. Rowley, president of Joliet Junior College.

Rowley has been visiting new junior colleges in northern Illinois recently to study their interim campuses in search of ways to accommodate the increasing numbers of students at JJC in the interim until the permanent buildings are completed at the new campus on the Richards' farms west of Joliet.

Rock Valley College, now three years old, has used an interim campus for two years. Construction of two buildings of the planned campus is under way.

This junior college started by the board of education hiring an administrative staff of president, business manager, bursar, assistant to the president, accountant, dean of instruction, dean of students, dean of vocational-technical education, registrar, librarian, twelve division chairmen, and eight counselors.

This staff developed the curriculum for the new college, aided the board in the selection of an architect and in the purchase of a retired doctor's estate of 200 acres, developed a broad program of public information including many brochures and fliers, and set up an intensive program of developing federal grants and aids.

Many interim buildings have been constructed on the campus. These are used now as classrooms and laboratories, but when the permanent buildings are completed the interim structures will be retained for such uses as maintenance and supplies, storage, and garages.

One of the most charming features of the campus, however, according to President Rowley, is the use that has been made of the buildings already on the estate at the time of purchase. The dwelling is used for administrative offices, and the garage has become the offices of the registrar and director of admissions. The milk house is used for processing library acquisitions, while the former horse barn is used for the 19,000 volume library, and its loft has been converted into study carrels. The original cow barn, now informal and attractive with interior paneling, has become the student center containing a cafeteria, a large student lounging area with motion picture projection, and a row of offices for counseling.

All the structures on the farm are being used, with the exception of the silo. This the college had hoped to utilize for art displays by erecting a spiral staircase in its center, but approval of the fire department officials could not be obtained.

All interim structures have a rustic appearance with board and batten exteriors that make them harmonious with the rural setting.

Rock Valley College has been fortunate in having a city sewer trunk line running directly through the campus.

One of the disadvantages pointed out to President Rowley, however, is that for the present it is a divided college since most of their technical education is offered in a former convent one and a half miles from the main campus. aeronautical technology is being taught at the airport two miles away, and auto mechanics is offered in the town of Belvidere, thirteen miles from Rockford. The physical education facilities are very poor since there is no gymnasium on the campus.

The full-time student body is almost as large as that at Joliet Junior College. With the limited facilities, the classrooms have been extremely crowded. As a result, classes are scheduled from 7:50 in the morning straight through until ten o'clock at night.

Despite the handicaps and limitations, Rock Valley's president, Dr. Clifford Erickson, is optimistic. "The interim campus has produced a fine spirit thruout both the faculty and student body," he said. "Apparently using an interim campus costs about the same as staying in a high school building." President Rowley commented, "and if the state junior college board can be induced to pay three-fourths of the cost, as happened at Rockford, the cost to a local district is considerably less."

When you buy a new home the trees are expensive. This is especially true if the trees are old and well established. It's not unusual to pay a thousand dollars per tree extra for a lot in new developments. Therefore it makes good sense to inspect the trees as carefully as you do the house.

Of course if the tree is an elm it may be a liability as it will require faithful spraying until the Dutch elm disease problem is solved. Willows and poplars are other trees that can become liability because of their short life and susceptibility to wind injury.

Assuming that the tree is of a good variety and planted in the right place you should give it detailed inspection. The bark should be tight with no loose patches resulting from the impact of heavy equipment.

Next look at the location itself. If the tree is close to the house, near the street, drive, or walk it may be in

St. Mary Church Scene Of Stanger-Batson Vows

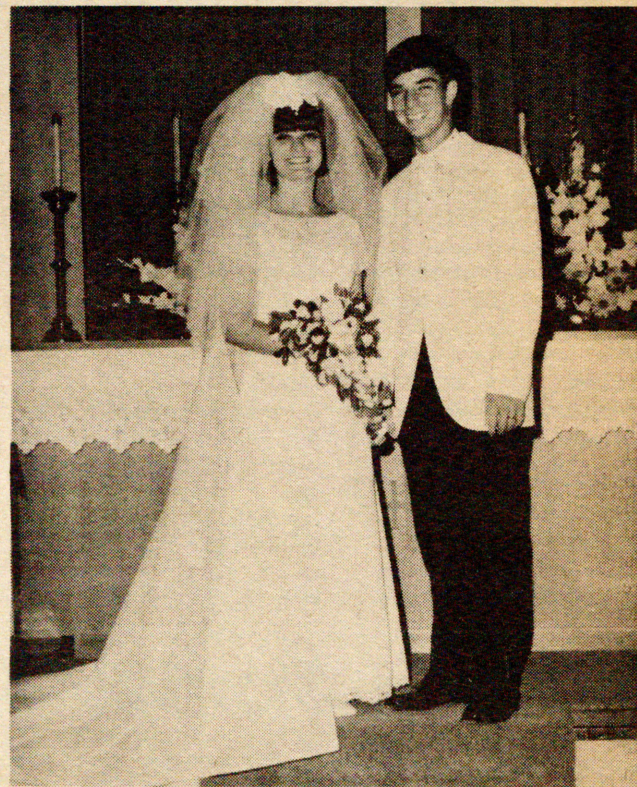

Miss Marlene Stanger exchanged marriage vows with David Batson, Moody Air Force Base, Valdosta, Ga., July 6 in St. Mary's Church, Mokena.

Rev. Cecil Koop, O.F.M. officiated at the 3 p.m. nuptial mass for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Stanger, 11031 E. Denny Ave., Mokena and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Batson, 229 First St., New Lenox.

Twin arrangements of white gladioli and shrimp colored majestic daisies adorned the altar. The pews were marked with lilies-of-the-valley, ferns and white satin bows.

The bride approached the altar, on the arm of her father, wearing a slipper-toe-length gown of white organza over taffeta, designed with a bateau neckline, short sleeves and modified empire bodice. The bouffant chapel length train flowed from the shoulders. Peau d'ange lace framed the neckline and formed a deep scalloped valance on the A-line skirt. Lace motifs reappeared on the sleeves and body of the train.

The bride's multi-tiered veil of English silk illusion was attached to a cluster of lace petals trimmed with pearls and crystal beads. She carried a tapered cascade of white roses centered with Eucharist lilies and a crystal rosary. The bride wore a gold cross centered with a diamond, gift of the bridegroom.

The matron of honor, sister of the bride, Mrs. Harry Tatro, Jr., appeared in an apricot chiffon over taffeta cage gown, slipper toe length, with scooped neckline, puffed sleeves, crescent bodice, slim A-line front flowing into full cage back. A garland of moss green velvet ivy and color-cued rosebuds defined the front waistline and back neckline. Her headpiece was an arrangement of petals and loops of color-cued chiffon with bustle veils of maline. She carried a tailored colonial bouquet of shrimp colored semi-glamellias centered with yellow sweetheart roses, encircled with leatherleaf, and toe length green velvet streamers.

Dressed identically with the matron of honor were the bridesmaids, Miss Joann Batson, sister of the groom, Miss Sally Gardner and Mrs. Dianne Fleck.

Flower girl was Lynn Swanson, niece of the groom, who wore a similar styled gown and a matching bow headpiece. She carried a basket centered with gladioli and brimming with matching blooms.

Terry Nolan performed the duties of best man. Ushers were William Batson, Ronald Englert and Robert Kripple. Larry Hug, nephew of the bride was ringbearer.

A reception followed from 6 until 11 p.m. at Jardine's in Tinley Park.

The bride's mother chose a petal pink dress, designed with a pleated ruffled collar and cuffs, accented with a wide belt of color-cued satin. A petal pink veil hat and purse accented with a cymbidium white orchid corsage completed her outfit.

The bridegroom's mother chose an ice blue A-line Dacron dress with color-cued accessories. She wore a white cymbidium orchid corsage.

Following a wedding trip to the Cumberland Falls, the couple are residing near the Moody Air Force Base, Valdosta, Ga.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Batson entertained the bridal party at a rehearsal dinner in their home.

Other pre-nuptial parties were given by Mrs. Eugene Hug, Mrs. Harry Tatro, Mrs. Dianne Fleck, Miss Sally Gardner, Mrs. Gerald Shreffler, Mrs. Robert Wysock and Miss Joann Batson.

Reminds Motorists-- Schools Open Again

One million youngsters will be returning to schools in Illinois during the first week in September, proclaimed "School's Open Safety Week" by Gov. Samuel H. Shapiro.

In making the proclamation, the governor joined with Gerald W. Cavanagh, president of the Chicago Motor Club-AAA, in urging citizens "to extend the utmost care while driving to protect the lives of our most precious assets -- our children."

"School's Open Safety Week," Sept. 2-8, marks the start of the club's 21st annual School's Open safety promotion in cooperation with the Governor's Office and municipal, police and school officials throughout Illinois.

It is this cooperation, Cavanagh said, that has been so helpful in cutting by half the accident rate for school-age children since founding of the School Safety Patrol by the club in 1920.

"More than 18,500 lives have been saved in Illinois and Indiana alone through the direct efforts of the 72,000 Patrol members in these two states and the thousands of boys and girls who have preceded them," Cavanagh said.

Governor Shapiro said in his proclamation that the cooperation of every motorist with the Patrol "is urgently needed to continue this life-saving work."

Cavanagh said parents also should emphasize to their children that they must cross only at those intersections attended by a School Safety Patrol member, an adult crossing guard or a policeman.

"Parents have the responsibility for teaching their youngsters to be cautious and safe pedestrians," Cavanagh said.

As part of this year's "School's Open Safety Week" campaign the Chicago Motor Club again is mailing thousands of posters to school and municipal officials, urging safety during this critical period.

Keepataw Days Countdown Begins

The final 'Countdown' has begun for the big 'lift off' of the Lemont Original Jaycees "Keepataw Days," three-day celebration for Lemont residents Aug. 31, Sept. 1st and 2nd. Command Pilot Ron Bromberek and his 'back-up pilots' report that all systems are 'Go'. All plans are finalized and all that remains is the waiting that precedes a big event like this. All concerned though are confident of a successful 'lift-off' and flight during the entire three days.

Bromberek and his team have been working long hours and expect to continue to do so throughout the time remaining to ensure a 'fun' time for one and all. "There will be something doing for all ages throughout the entire celebration," says a Jaycee spokesman.

Midway of the carnival will open promptly at 6 p.m. on August 31st. Carnival rides and concessions will be furnished by the McDermott Amusement Inc. As in years past the midway will be located in the heart of town, on Main St. from State to Stephen Street and will have two blocks of continuous entertainment for the entire family.

proceed south to Main St. . . East on Main St. to Illinois Street . . . West on Illinois St. to State St. . . North on State St. to disbanding areas. Parade line-ups will begin at 12 noon. The judges' stand will be located at St. Patrick's Church on Illinois Street. Trophies will be awarded in the following categories at 5 p.m. at the stage on the midway: Fire Department, Grade School Band; Bands; Drum & Bugle Corps; Color Guard; Drill Teams and Marching Units; Baton Twirlers; Floats, Class I; Floats, Class II; Decorated Autos; Horse and rider; horse drawn unit and most comical unit.

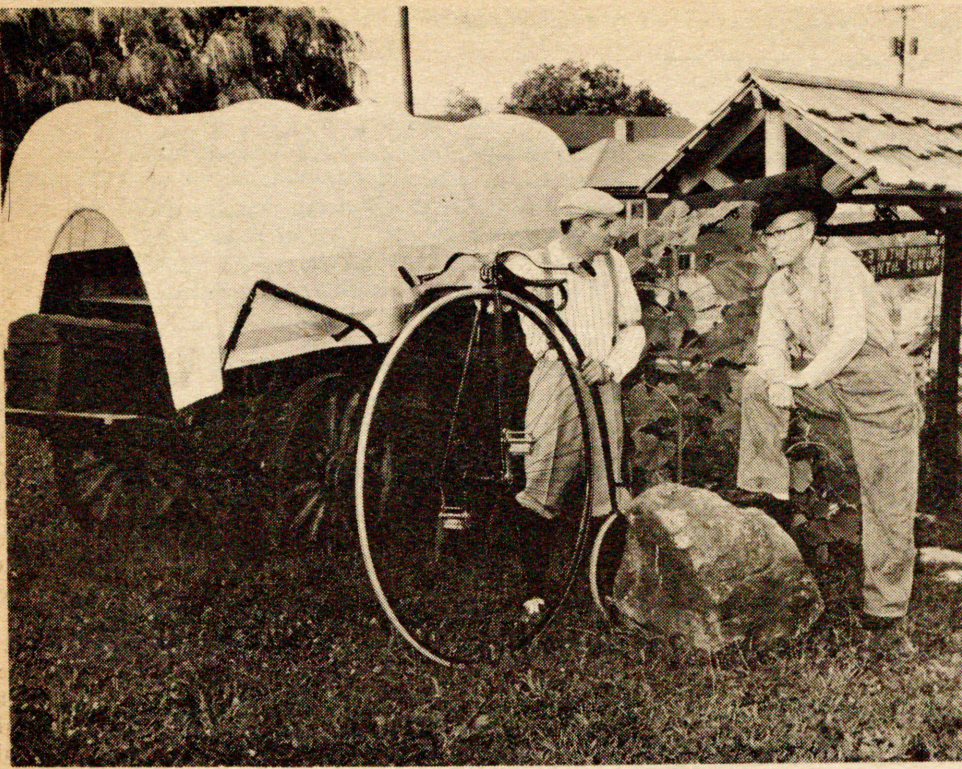

Parade Marshals this year are John Hennessy, 490 Na-

Opening times for the midway on September 1st are 1 p.m. and 12 noon on Monday, September 2nd.

Grand prizes to be awarded this year are a first prize of $1500; a second prize of $1000 and a third prize of $500.

Once again the Lemont Original Jaycees are reminding everyone to reserve this time to come and join them in their big celebration and to plan on having a great time.

"COME ON, get modern, and try this new fangled bicycle," Carl Lindee appears to be urging to Mort Blaylock. But Blaylock isn't taking any chances. "I'll stick with my covered wagon," he says. The two were doing a bit of window dressing for the Frankfort festival that's set for Saturday and Sunday. (Behnke photo)

N & W Freight Piles Up In River

The Norfolk & Western Railway, formerly the Washburn, which passes thru Orland Park and New Lenox on its mainline route between Chicago and St. Louis, has been tied up for days now because of a freight wreck near Wilmington about midnight last Friday. No one was injured.

A southbound train with two locomotive units and 97 cars was derailed on the railroad's bridge over the Kankakee between Wilmington and Custer Park.

Railmen were quoted as believing that the load on a flatcar shifted, causing the car to go out of control and leave the track. It crashed thru the side of the bridge and dragged the next 21 cars off too. The north span of the bridge also collapsed.

Some of the cars landed in shallow water but there were some that plunged out of sight in the main channel of the river. There were some piggy-back cars on the train whose trailers burst open when they hit the water. One of them contained canned hams and a lot of them floated free and went bobbing down stream. One of the cars, it was said, was filled with TV (color and black and white) and radio sets.

The engines and some of the cars were standing on the south side of the river and there was a line of cars on the north side that hadn't reached the bridge.

Damage to the bridge, track and rolling stock, and loss of cargo will amount to several hundred thousand dollars, it was believed.

The mainline of the N & W between Chicago and St. Louis consists of a single track. Traffic was routed over the Illinois Central.

This year's show will again include horse and mule competition as well as a power show and tractor pulling contest, and the regular tractor plowing events.

call William Hacker, 815-436-6388. Cash prizes and cups are being awarded in most classes.

Special attractions this year include parachute jumps Friday afternoon and Saturday morning and afternoon, an antique tractor display, and the capture of a greased pig.

The Ladies Fair will have exhibits of various kinds, an auction of baked goods at 1:30 Saturday afternoon, and the award of prizes for cooking and canning.

DON'T

LET THIS HAPPEN TO YOUR CAR OVER THE LABOR DAY WEEKEND!

Let's face facts. Damaged cars mean damaged lives. Cars do not wreck themselves, it's you the driver who controls the path, the speed and the manner in which they are operated, so drive carefully! If you don't, death can be in your drivers seat, too!

Let's face facts. Live drivers are safe drivers. Whether you think you're the world's greatest driver or not, there's always the other guy. The guy who runs the light, who drinks too much, who didn't see the sign. Over the holiday, there are always more of them. And the only way to avoid serious accidents is to be a careful driver. Keep a safe and steady hand on that wheel. If you don't, death can be in your driver's seat, too!

DON'T LET DEATH TAKE THE DRIVER'S SEAT!

A COME-ALONG stick, an invention of an Aurora policeman, is finding favor with law enforcers as a useful tool. The stick is in two sections, joined by a chain. If one has to use it as a stick it is quite effective and as a come-along it is most persuasive. Officer George Hernandez, of the Joliet police department demonstrated its effectiveness to members of the New Lenox department last week following a talk by Sgt. Harold Pedersen, also of the Joliet department, relative crowd trouble. Taking a leader out of a crowd with this instrument was described as not too difficult. A grip with this device and resistance disappears. In the picture above Officer Robert Tepper, of the New Lenox department, was rendered helpless when Hernandez applied the come-along to his arm. At the left Hernandez illustrated how the club is used for a neck hold. New Lenox Police Chief Joseph Wajchert, a big and powerful man, attests that this club is quite a persuader. New Water Safety Book Available

Copies of a new Red Cross textbook, "Swimming and Water Safety", are now available at the office of Will County Regional Red Cross, according to Charles A. Beseman, regional Water Safety chairman.

The new book replaces the original Red Cross teaching text, "Swimming and Diving", first published in 1938.

Additional strokes, developed as competitive swimming became popular, are included in the new material. Sections on survival floating and special techniques for teaching pre-school children are new, as are chapters on artificial respiration and safety measures for home pools and farm ponds.

The textbook is obtainable at the Red Cross office, 222 N. Broadway, for a nominal charge. It is used chiefly by volunteer instructors in Red Cross water safety programs but is considered valuable to anyone concerned with swimming, boating, water skiing and skin or scuba diving.

LATEST CONCEPT in gas incinerators is an under-counter model designed for use in the kitchen. To a home-maker's delight, gas incinerators dispose of virtually all burnable waste, including corn husks, peach pits, string and coffee grounds -- and other refuse most sink disposers cannot handle.

SW "Y" Sponsors

A Teen "Join In"

The Southwest YMCA sponsored "JOIN IN" for teens Sept. 6, 7, and 8 at George Williams College in Downers Grove in rapidly recruiting young people. A limit of 300 is the number set for a week-end of fun, excitement, and planning for future YMCA programs, and teen activities for the coming year.

"JOIN IN" is the place where you can make your voice heard...where you can speak out on what's happening in your community," a "Y" spokesman said.

Students from Sandburg who have already signed up include: Wayne Kost, 12583 S. 75th Ave., Palos Heights, Keith Pnazeck, 8837 W. 131st Pl., Orland Park, Mary Anderson, 12415 S. 81st Av., Palos Park and David Lyons, 8419 W. 119th St., Palos Park.

For further information one may call the Southwest YMCA at 424-8100, or drop in at 9840 S. Cicero, Oak Lawn. "JOIN IN" is open to all high school youth in the Sandburg-Stagg area, and young people from parochial schools are especially invited to join-in.
